

Fall 2017

SDX9 - Monday, September 18, 2017

Exploring Developmental Evaluation

Join us for a reflective session on developmental evaluation and how it can support innovation within organizations with special guest SDXer Mark Cabaj.

SDX10 - Friday, November 3, 2017

RSD6: YEG Edition

Join SDXers who have recently returned from the Relating Systems Thinking & Design Symposium in Oslo, Norway as they bring their learnings back to the SDX community in this special all-day SDX event.*

SDX Social

Holiday Lab

Forget the whiteboards and deck the halls with post-its! Join us at Action Lab for our annual holiday social. Event details will be posted via Twitter and sent out via email once available.

SDX is an Edmonton-based Community of Practice that convenes people interested in learning about systemic design as a methodology for addressing complex, real world issues. Together, we explore systems thinking, design thinking, and lab approaches.

With a bias towards learning by doing, SDX aims to be a watering hole where multiple sectors can come together, learn together, and act together.

SDX is convened by the Government of Alberta CoLab and the Skills Society Action Lab.

Regular SDX Sessions take place from 1:15 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Action Lab (2nd Floor, 10408-124 Street, Edmonton).

RSVP Required. Please see Eventbrite or Twitter for registration information.

Admission to SDX is free. Donations are accepted at the door. We use them to buy coffee & snacks for SDX sessions :)

*There will be a small admission fee for this SDX special event to help cover hosting costs.

Brent: brent.wellsch@gov.ab.ca
Ben: bweinlick@gmail.com

skillsociety.ca/projects/sdx

@SDXCoP

Systemic Design exchange